Transportation between Savannah & Augusta.

THE PRESIDENT, DIRECTORS & CO.

OF THE

Steamboat Company of Georgia,

Inform the Merchants

of Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, and Tennessee, that they now possess unequalled facilities for the reception and safe and rapid transportation of merchandise from Savannah, via the river, to Augusta and the interior of the above States, having the past year built extensive, fire proof, freight houses, for the protection of produce and merchandise, and the light draft

Steamer Thomas S. Metal and Lighters, which will enable them to forward freight at the low stages of the river, without deterior. The Iron Steamer Chattooga and the Cherokee will run in connection with the T. S. Metal.

A powerful Corros Press has also been constructed capable of compressing 800 acres cotton per day.

The very low rates of freight, as established in 1847, will be adhered to in all stages of the river, offering inducements not surpassed by any other method of transportation.

Particular attention will be paid to the condition of goods entrusted to our care, and on freight engagements, which will be made to the lowest terms.

Merchandise, in all cases, imported or exported, will be received and forwarded free of commissions, and freight for the Geo-gia Rail Road for Athens and Atlanta, and all Stations on the Western & Atlantic rail road can be paid at those Stations.

Produce from the Georgia Rail Road will also be forwarded free of commissions, and all expenses paid, and collected at Savannah from consignees, or vessels when required.

The general satisfaction this company gives the past year to its patrons, shall be diminished.

Merchandise should be directed to the agents of the Company,

GEN. TAYLOR'S PLATFORM ON THE SLAVERY QUESTION.

In reply to your inquiries, I have to inform you that I have laid it down as a principle, not to give my opinions upon, or prejudice in any way the various questions of policy now at issue between the political parties of the country, nor to promise what I would or would not do, were I elected to the Presidency of the United States; and that in the case presented in your letter, I regret to add, I see no reason for departing from this principle.—Z. Taylor.

Letter to Z. M. McConkey of Cincinnati, in reply to the Enquiry whether he would veto the Wilmot Proviso.

Gen. Taylor's endorsement, Mr. Fillmore's abolition opinions, in his last letter to Mr. Allison, by the following extract:

"The Democratic Convention met in May and composed their ticket to suit them. This they had a right to do. The National Whig Convention met in June and selected me as their candidate. I accepted the nomination with gratitude and with pride. I was proud of the confidence of such a constituency as the Whig party of the United States—a manifestation the more grateful because it was not numbered with men who were statesmen and constitutional jurists, and who had devoted their lives to the investigation of the principles of government. If they would hesitate to lay the hand of Dagobert on the ark of our nation—cover what blindness and infatuation could be for a rough and inexperienced soldier to attempt to carry out, as with the sword, one of its most vital and delicate portions! Truly we might apply to the reckless followers of Gen. Taylor, to make attack upon the constitution, the epithet

"Fools blunder in where angels fear to tread."

This man is Millard Fillmore, and this:

GEN. CASS' PLATFORM.

ON THE "WILMOT PROVISO."

We have neither the right nor the power to touch slavery where it exists.—Gen. Cass.

Congress has no right to say, that there shall be no slavery in New York, or that there shall be no slavery in Georgia; nor is there any human power but the power of those States, respectively, which can change the relations existing thereon.—Gen. Cass.

A successful attempt to engraft the principles of the Wilmot Proviso upon the legislation of this government, and to apply them to new territory, should now territory be acquired, would seriously affect our integrity.—Gen. Cass.

I am opposed to the exercise of any jurisdiction by Congress over this matter; and I am in favor of leaving the people in my territory, which may be hereafter acquired, the right to regulate it for themselves, under the general principles of the constitution.—Gen. Cass.

The Wilmot Proviso seeks to take from its legitimate intent a question of domestic policy, giving no relation to the Union as such, and to transfer it to another, viz., of the people for a special purpose, and to the subject matter involved in this issue. By going back to our true principles, we go back to the road of peace and safety. Leave to the people, who will be affected by this question, to adjust it upon their own responsibility, and in their own manner, and we render another tribute to the original principles of our government and furnish another guarantee for its permanence and prosperity.—Gen. Cass.

I am opposed to the exercises of any jurisdiction by Congress over the subject of slavery.—Gen. Cass.

I do not see in the Constitution any grant of such a power to Congress.—Gen. Cass.

THE RESOLUTION OF THE CONVENTION THAT NOMINATED GEN. CASS.

"That Congress has no power under the Constitution to interfere with or control the domestic institutions of the several States, and that such State & proper judges of everything relating to their own affairs, not prohibited by the Constitution, that all effects of the abolition measures made by Congress to interfere with the execution of state laws in relation to

"Gen. Cass is a man of education, talents and industry."

The North American (Whig) says:

"Gen. Cass is a soldier, a scholar and a gentleman."

The New York Commercial Advertiser says:

"Gen. Cass is distinguished for his great general acquirements, clear, philosophic and capacious intellect, and fine original style of composition."

THE VETO POWER.

Aside from the declaration of the Northern Whigs that Gen. Taylor is pledged not to veto the Wilmot Proviso, his endorsement of Mr. Fillmore's Abolition opinions, his suspicious silence upon this subject, there can be no doubt that if he abides by the principles laid down in his first Allison letter, that he would evict a bill prohibiting slavery in the territories.

In that letter he says, "the veto power should never be exercised except in case of clear violation of the constitution, or manifest haste and want of consideration by Congress." Now if Congress passes the Wilmot Proviso it is clear it will not be an act which will come under the head of "manifest haste and want of consideration." The restriction of slavery is a subject which has long been agitated in every section of the Union. It has been before Congress in a variety of shapes, and discussed for years.—Now no body can pretend that it is an act restricting slavery is passed by Congress, it will be the result of hasty legislation or want of consideration. It therefore becomes the interest and duty of the free States to see that their opinions are maintained in both Houses of Congress, and especially does it become their duty to defeat the election of General Cass, who has avowed his uncompromising hostility against this, restricting the extension of slavery by any act of Congress, and who would be held by his party to veto any legislation having that for its object. And in the opinion of this meeting, the defeat of General Cass can only be prevented by the election of General Taylor."

Convention of Massa-chusets.

Resolved, That this convention is opposed to the exercise of any jurisdiction by Congress over the matter of slavery in the territories; but is in favor of leaving to the people who inhabit them, the right to establish and regulate their own domestic institutions and relations, under the general principles of the constitution; and this is a claim which cannot be disallowed by the national democracy devoted, as it is, to the liberty, equality, and fraternity of this great brotherhood of States.

No look on this picture.

The following resolution was adopted by the Whigs at the ratification meeting in Boston:

Resolved, That we believe in the assurances that General Taylor upholds the existence of slavery, and is opposed to its extension. The question of extension of slavery over the territory of the United States, must first receive the action of Congress, and Gen. Taylor has formally and explicitly declared his intention not to interfere with the will of the people as expressed through their Representatives in Congress. Hence there is the strongest and best reason for believing that the cause of freedom would be altogether secure from any interference on the part of the Executive.

It therefore becomes the interest and duty of the free States to see that their opinions are maintained in both Houses of Congress, and especially does it become their duty to defeat the election of General Cass, who has avowed his uncompromising hostility against this, restricting the extension of slavery by any act of Congress, and who would be held by his party to veto any legislation having that for its object. And in the opinion of this meeting, the defeat of General Cass can only be prevented by the election of General Taylor."

GEORGIA ELECTIONS.

The election returns so far as received are decidedly indicative that the State has gone for the Democrats, and is safe for Cass and Butler in November.

Below are the returns from thirty counties, from the Charleston Mercury the result is as follows:

RECAPITULATION.

LIGHT.

When time was not; and chaos rul'd;

The 'ternal sat upon his throne;

And sent his fit: forth. The earth,

The clouds, the starry world arose;

Yet darkness, rul'd the hour. He spoke,

And, with the thunder tone, arose

A blaze of light—the orb of day:

It roll'd in glorious glory round;

And th'z, its dwelling place, supreme,

Amidst, the universe of God—

The minor orbs behind their king,

They circled round, in order mov'd,

Silently, and harmonious all,

Content'd; and the morning rose,

To songs of praise, from all the stars,

And sheets of joy, in unison,

Proceeding from the sons of God.

PUZZLING QUESTIONS FOR THE

SOUTHERN WHIG—A CHAL-

LENCE.

Has Gen. Taylor expressed any opinion as to the constitutional power of Congress to pass the Wilmot Proviso? Has he expressed any determination on his opinion that will bind him to veto the Wilmot Proviso? If so, where are they to be found?

We put these questions in a spirit of candor, for the purpose of arriving at truth.

We call upon the Southern whigs to answer them. WE PLEDGE OURSELVES

TO ANSWER SIMILAR QUESTIONS

RELATIVE TO GEN. CASS.

Come up to the scratch, gentlemen! or acknowledge that YOU DARE NOT!

We give fair notice, that we shall not accept for an answer, that Gen. Taylor is pledged by his Allison letter to veto acts of Congress in vi- olation of the Constitution—UNLESS it is so resolved at the same time, that GRN.

TAYLOR, in his opinion, is to be committed to the Wilmot Proviso? We are
